Quotes

And when problems come—and they will come; when opposition comes—and it will come—have the Word of God in your mouth. Have the Word of God in your mind. But now, listen. Have the Word of God in your manner of life. God said to Joshua, “that you may observe to do all that is commanded in the Word of God.”

Rogers, A. (2017). How to Gain and Celebrate Victory. In Adrian Rogers Sermon Archive (Re 15–16). Rogers Family Trust.

“We have no power nor might, but our eyes are upon THEE” (2 Chron. 20:12). It is when opposition comes in like a deluge that we are apt to summon our own forces, or else to give up in despair. Then is the time to trust, to fix the eye on the overcoming One.

Smith, J., & Lee, R. (1971). Handfuls on Purpose for Christian Workers and Bible Students, Series I–XIII (five-volume edition, Vol. 3, p. 225). William B. Eerdmans Publishing Company.

The baptism of the Holy Ghost means enthusiasm ... that suffers, works, sacrifices; that no opposition can daunt and no enemies destroy. WB William Booth (1829–1912)

Pratney, W., Hill, S., & Winslow, T. S., eds. (2010). The Revival Study Bible (p. 905). Genesis Books.

We need to keep on being the light of the world for Christ and not be discouraged or defeated when opposition comes—and it will come.
